In my opinion both, customers and shops benefit from discounting shopping.

First of all, customers get a discount that is very attractive because it allows you to buy something that you wanted and maybe you couldn’t afford. Secondly, the owners sell all the stock that they have so they have the possibility of renewing all the shop stuff. Finally, people are attracted by sales or discounts and they know the shop and spend money not only in discounted items but also in other goods whose price is not reduced.

To sum up, sales and discounts attract people so shops get benefits of this fact, and customers save money so both are happy.

This is a very difficult issue, but it would be interesting to have the most famous paintings in public museums.

First of all, art and culture should be accessible for all the people, because it is an important part of our History. Secondly art is beautiful, and it is something that people can enjoy and some masterpieces that are gorgeous are not accessible for everybody. However, it is true the fact that art owners who have paid a lot of money to keep for themselves these masterpieces won’t agree with having their paintings in public museums. Finally, I think that having all these paintings in museums can be positive for the museum because it will attract more people and earn more money.

To sum up, art should be in the museums, that way everybody could enjoy it.
