I am a big fan of new technologies, in fact, I have to admit that I cannot live without it.

First of all, I am always using my mobile phone, I know that it is an disgusting habit and although I am concerned about my problem, I cannot help using it all the time. Even if I am with friends or on a date night, knowing that it is not polite I keep on using it. It is really useful, if you need to phone or you are in an emergency, to whatsapp your friends or to google anything you want to know, these kind of mobile phones are perfect.

Secondly all new technologies can be also used at home, with new households and devices, that can be controlled with your phone or with a remote, all of them make our lives easier and they are simply great.

Despite of having a lot of advantages, new technologies have taken us to an isolation situation with the people who is around us. It is not difficult to see a couple having dinner in a restaurant and looking their phones instead of talking one another.

In summary, new technologies must be used carefully and trying to respect the others. I hope that some people change their way of enjoying these sticks, but if they do not, we will be prohibited from using them.

I really like watching films, specially science fiction films. In my opinión they are far more interesting than any other.

Firstly, since I am a very sentive person I don't like dramas or sad films, because they often make me cry. In spite of this fact, my favourite film is science fiction mixed with drama but it also has some morals and for this reason I think that watching this film worths it.

Harry Potter is an orphan who lives with his aunt, uncle and his cousin in a terrible way, they consider him a servant and he doesn't have anything, one day he discovers that he is a wizard and then all his life changes, he starts studying in a magic school, he makes friends and enemies, and until the very end he fights against the evil one and also his own ghosts of the past. There are 7 books and 8 films, all of them teach us about the power of love and friendship, and moreover they make us believe in ourselves and in our possibilities and at the same time they show that life is not always what we expect and we can't avoid living very difficult situations.
