Music is something that surrounds us and is always present in the most important events of our lives.

Personally, music has never been a very important part of my life and, therefore, it is not something I listen too much. However, there are special moments which I need to listen music. For example, if I am happy, I need happy songs. Fortunately, my couple loves dancing and singing and that makes me listen more music that I would not do on my own. So, happy songs are something that I usually listen to. On the other hand, I sometimes feel sad and then, I need romantic songs which are very sad. I am masoch!

If I had to choose one style, it would be pop music. I particularly like English-speaking music a lot. This way I can always practice and learn more English when I learn the lyrics. So I don't know when I'll listen to music again, but I hope it's happy music! In this way it will surely be because I feel great!

Question 5

A few years ago, I remember a Halloween party where my friends and I had dressed up to do a play. I remember that we made the costumes ourselves and it took us several months to finish it to be perfect on October 31st.

At first, we were all going to make a surprise choice about what to wear, but we found that some wanted to dress up as non-Halloween things like superheroes or other nonsense. Therefore, we decided to put some options written in a bag and each one was taking a paper and deciding the disguise of each one. I had to be a vampire! Furthermore, The creation process was a lot of fun and when the day of the performance came it was a success, because everyone wore costumes like monsters, werewolves, ghosts and much more. The play was a success and people even gave us money at the end.

Remembering that day, today I see it as one of the best moments that I have been able to enjoy with my friends and, thanks to that moment, today I value much more the work that people dedicate to creating parties and disguises.
